Holiday Bureau Sees Christmas Spirit

Agency Will Mete Out Needed Baskets

As Christmas time draws nigh, the Holiday Bureau begins its efforts to aid the less fortunate families in Oak Ridge and Anderson County. The Bureau acts as an empty stocking fund, and provides clothing, both new and used, in addition to food baskets and toys. Needy families are referred to the Bureau by groups and individuals.

Acting as a clearing house for groups and individuals, the Bureau keeps its distribution lists in strictest confidence.

Last Christmas the Holiday Bureau supplied food, toys and clothing to more than 4,000 children in some 900 local families. A toy repair shop was operated daily for three months preceding Christmas. Thrift shops in Clinton and Oak Ridge were swamped with requests for clothing.

Any Y-12ers wishing to help in any way . . . new and repairable dolls, toys, bicycles, games and books are in urgent need at the toy repair shop. Good, used clothing and non-perishable foods are also being collected.

If you want to help a needy family through the Holiday Bureau this year, just contact Jerry Goldberg, chairman, or let the Bureau know of your desire to help. The address is The Holiday Bureau, P. O. Box 2203, Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

The true spirit of Christmas is exemplified by the work of the Holiday Bureau.

VICIOUS CIRCLE

Some doctors are now saying that falling hair is caused by worrying . . . and what are the men worried about? . . . Falling hair, naturally.

North Portal Parking Lot Is Now Ready For Improved Usage

Final touches were put on North Portal's face-lifting last week, as the angle-parking stripes were painted in. Approximately 430 additional parking spaces have been added to the parking area. This brings the total space to about 1,170 cars.

Automated traffic control lights will soon be installed at the entrance-exit lanes at both ends of the parking lot which faces Bear Creek Road. Until these traffic signals are installed, flow will be regulated by patrolmen.

A Little More Care

Correct parking and considerate, correct movement will facilitate the flow of autos more than any mechanism designed yet by man. During the transition period to the new, spacious parking area employees using this portal are requested to use a little more courtesy and consideration for his fellow employee.

Car pool autos are requested not to park along the sidewalks to pick up passengers. This congestion can often bottle-neck the entire lane behind you. There is a passenger pick-up lane running the entire breadth of the parking lot on Bear Creek Road for this purpose. Use this lane only for passenger pick-up.

Arrows Show Flow

The arrows in the illustration above show the flow of traffic as planned in the new parking set-up. The traffic moves in alternating lanes to and away from Bear Creek Road.

Modernization of the portal parking area saw the removal of the old bus lane "islands" and the sheds that ran out into the lot from Building 9701-1.

So, a little extra care and caution will be required during the initial stages of the parking lot addition. The same courteous thoughtfulness of other employees that has always been a hallmark of Y-12 employees will accomplish the job quickly of getting us all accustomed to newer and better things.

Take Your Turn

Drive carefully, observe the "flow lines" and, above all, take your turn in an exit or entrance move. Yield the right-of-way when it is not yours.

During the freezing weather we should expect any day, another word of caution might be remembered. Some of last year's lost-time accidents were caused from falls on ice. Don't let your fall be added to that list!

Airman John W. Steward

Airman John W. Steward, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Steward, Route 3, Oliver Springs, has been assigned to Amarilla Air Force Base, Texas, for technical training as a United States Air Force aircraft maintenance specialist.

The young airman's father is in Special Mechanical Product, F Area, Mechanical Operations Division.

Airman Steward took his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

S-P/4 Judson T. Kidwell

Shedding his uniform to return to work is Judson T. Kidwell, who will return to Production Machining after spending two years with the United States Army. Kidwell was stationed in Aschaffenburg, Germany for more than 18 months. He said that he visited many interesting and beautiful places during his tour, but is glad to be home.

Kidwell, his wife and Stacy (the daughter was born while he was away) live at 6514 Cherry Drive, Knoxville.

Security requires a year-round performance.

Twice as many people in the USA drown in bathtubs as in swimming pools. What good use we could have made of that argument when we were children!

CHEMICAL OPERATIONS

Vacationers who didn't tell anyone include H. H. Williams, B. D. Hale, L. C. Maples, John York and Bob McAllister. . . Fred Hancock stayed around home in Oak Ridge.

Sincere sympathy to Margie Giles, whose father, J. L. Morlee, died recently.

MECHANICAL OPERATIONS

Special Production emerges from the woodwork to tell that Bill LaRue is back to work after a bout in the Oak Ridge Hospital. . . Toney Gable can give you some hints on how to get news first-hand. He discovered recently that daughter Barbara was the subject of a recent wedding. . . she and Gene Arrington were wed on July 29. Seriously, everyone wants to congratulate Toney on the arrival of his new son-in-law!

Tom LaRue's long weeks of waiting came to an end on December 1 when his wife Mary Alice gave birth to another big boy at Baptist Hospital. This little bundle weighed seven pounds, five ounces. . . Squaw and papoose. . . fine. . . Brave may recover!

Also, Charlie Myers took a weeks' vacation to prepare for the big Thanksgiving feast and to rest up from eating too much. He probably hit a lick or two on his remodeling project at home. . . he's building a bar, but get this. . . he plans to install a soda fountain for the kiddies!

Production Machining welcomes back E. L. Braden after an illness that lasted more than half a year. . . M Wing also rolls out the carpet to Toney Gable, Charlie Myers and James Barton coming over to help Chuck Borella and C. V. Taylor run the place.

Others coming in for a tour of duty are W. L. Arnold, J. W. Duncan, B. Hall, H. L. Smith, D. A. Davis, D. G. Lincoln and R. E. Cooper. Welcome, men.

Formerly of the A-1 Shop, Thomas A. Keith drops a letter from 353 James Street, Livermore, California, bearing holiday greetings to all his ex-fellow employees in Y-12. Say 'hello' for me to everyone there and wish them the best for the Holiday Season. (Same to you, Tom!)

Beta Four's Heavy Machine Shop's Bill Sahr and Jim Nevils went bird hunting Thanksgiving Day and Jim didn't get any at all, but Bill got one measly little bird. He shot 17 times at the same little feller and the dog finally ran it down and brought it back to the Mighty Nimrod. (Bill, what's the name of that gun club you belong to?)

Still out sick since his operation is H. L. Boshears. . . the Best To Him!

Vacationing last week were W. F. Lecomte and J. E. Page. . . also K. W. Silvers and Craig Waldroup all took off for points unknown.

Taking five more days to deer hunt is Don Gooch who still has the fever. He didn't get anything but cold feet this time either. He'd better just sit the next hunt out.

December 4 was Joe Hall's birthday. . . so Tom Harvey brought him a cake. (That's worse than bringing apples to the teacher, Tom.)

Over in A-2 Shop C. H. Helton is vacationing at home. . . sez he just plans to rest up. . . C. E. Hatmaker is out rabbit hunting. It's rumored he throws rocks instead of firing a gun. . . Willie Crowe has been spending most of his spare time chasing wasps with a broom. He broke too many handles, however, and has turned the job over to his wife.

In H-2 H. F. Harris has returned from a week long hunting trip in Bath County, Virginia. He was one of a party of 12 who were hunting bear, deer and wild turkeys.

N. B. Bloomer is welcomed into the shop. He replaces J. S. Stewart who transferred to F Area. Special Mechanical Production, F Area, pipes in recovery wishes to J. H. Billingsley on the ailing list for a few weeks.

R. P. Russell spent his week vacation at home entertaining relatives from Beaumont, Texas.

Ray Aytes and Florence Marie are spending their vacation in Florida with emphasis, of course, on soaking up the sun. It's hoped that Ray doesn't get that bountiful shock of hair singed in the sun.

OLD DEERSLAYER Newt Hamby got this eight-point buck the very first few minutes he was on a managed hunt over in the Catoosa area. The buck fell at 7:15 a.m. on November 11, and field dressed out at 145 pounds. Newt, in Dimensional Inspection, said most of the buck went into Eve's freezer; and he didn't offer to thaw any venison out for his old friends.

Shooting Red Fox Bears Stiff Fine

If you're planning to go out and shoot a red fox . . . don't do it, says the Game and Fish Commission. A recent photograph in the Bulletin identified a red fox as the victim of a hunter's arrow. The nimrod says that his take was a grey fox.

The Game and Fish Commission warns that the red fox is a protected animal in these parts. There is a heavy fine for killing it in any fashion . . . in any season! Fox hunters like the red fox because he runs from the hounds, and doesn't hole up and hide like the grey fox.

So, if you plan to shoot a fox, make doubly sure it isn't red . . . that's just asking for trouble.

LIFE Publicizes Local Sites For Tourists

East Tennessee attracts more tourists than any section of the country. You'd never know it by reading national magazines, however. Recently, Life magazine did come up with sites to see in these environs ... namely the new observation area at the Oak Ridge Gaseous Diffusion Plant, the Bull Run Steam Plant, nearby, and the Experimental Gas-Cooled Reactor.

Don't be half safe—follow all the security rules.
